Senate Delays Action On Gates Nomination

Demos Hit New Size-Up Of U.S., Soviet Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas S. Gates Jr.'s nomination as secretary of defense was held up in the Senate Monday as Democratic leaders mounted fresh attacks on the Pentagon's new size-up of relative U.S.-Soviet power.

Gates told the House Space Committee Monday the new military estimate is based on improved intelligence, on a "better set of facts" about the Soviet missile program. Once again he declared the United States is strong enough to deter aggression and to "take care of any military emergency that may arise."

The Soviet Union being ahead of the United States in space exploration does not affect the power relationship between the two countries, Gates said.

"We should talk about a deterrent gap, rather than a missile gap," he said. "Missiles are only one way of doing this terrible business. We have a number of ways."

"Our retaliatory capabilities are on a sound basis. We have a valid deterrent."

Gates implied there had been misinterpretation of his remarks last week that the current military estimate is geared to what "we believe the Russian probably will do, not what he is capable of doing."

Johnson, who has been among the loudest in criticizing the new intelligence evaluation, said he knows of no organized opposition to confirming Gates. He did not indicate how long action would be delayed.

Gates, serving under a recess appointment from President Eisenhower, won approval from the Senate Armed Services Committee last week. But since then the storm over the new military estimate has been gathering force.

Better Information Available
Johnson, who also heads the Senate Preparedness and Space Committees dismissed as "a bunch of words" the statements of administration leaders during the weekend. In essence, these officials said the Soviet Union might have an edge in long-range missiles in the years just ahead but that, taking total military power into consideration, there would be no "over-all deterrent gap."

Questioned about the new intelligence evaluations, Gates told the House Space Committee: "We have never been relying on what their intentions will be in reference to specific actions."

"Our intelligence information has improved," he added. "We have better information available on a variety of subjects and from a variety of sources."

He said he had not discussed the subject with Eisenhower; that the new approach was worked out by military intelligence specialists.

Kennedy Takes Issue With HST On Primaries

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) predicted Monday that no Democrat will be elected president who has not run in one or more state primary elections.

Kennedy made the statement as he kicked off his own drive for the Democratic nomination in New Hampshire.

He hammered hard in a series of formal and informal speeches at the importance of state primaries. He said he regretted that other Democratic candidates were not contesting in New Hampshire.

Asked to comment on ex-President Harry S. Truman's description of state primaries as "eyewash," Kennedy said he emphatically disagreed.

"If this is eyewash, I want a lot more of it," he said.

Speaking to an overflow crowd in the City Hall in Manchester, the state's largest city, Kennedy said:

"They (the voters) won't love them in November if they don't love them now."

In the same vein, Kennedy told a Rotary Club meeting in Nashua:

"For 50 years no Republican or Democrat has reached the White House without entering and winning at least one contested primary."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and Adlai E. Stevenson, all considered potential bidders for the Democratic presidential nomination are not entered in any primaries.

Kennedy's own first day in the field was a rip-roaring success. In spite of a heavy and steady snowfall, crowds followed him through the streets and turned out in large numbers for the scheduled meetings.

The senator's attractive wife, Jacqueline, wearing a flaming red coat and a dark fur hat, accompanied him.

Kennedy followed a pattern established four years ago by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

He strolled leisurely through the streets shaking hands. He ate a ham and cheese sandwich at a drug store, strolled through a bank, stopped in at a textile union headquarters, a shoe factory and several mills.

Gen. MacArthur Turns 80 Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Old Soldier Gen. Douglas MacArthur turns 80 Tuesday.

The occasion will be marked by a quiet private dinner party in his suite on the 37th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria Towers.

MacArthur, now board chairman of Remington-Rand, will spend the day with his wife and son. Staff officers who served with him in World War II will be his hosts at the dinner.

The general lives quietly at the Waldorf, seldom leaving his apartment. He was dismissed from his command nine years ago by then President Harry S. Truman.

Ike Airs Cuban Situation With Herter, Bonsal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower discussed Cuba with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal Monday amid reports this country is considering economic sanctions against the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

The President met with Herter and Bonsal for 40 minutes on the rapidly crumbling U.S. relations with Cuba. Assistant Secretary of State Roy R. Rubottom Jr., who is in charge of inter-American affairs, sat in on the meeting.

Herter and Bonsal were tight-lipped as they left the White House by a side entrance. They declined to discuss any phase of their conference with the President.

The President was said to be planning to devote a major portion of his news conference Tuesday to a discussion of the Cuban situation. He was reported ready to answer all questions on the subject.

Herter would not say when Bonsal would return to his post in Havana. Bonsal returned here Saturday for consultation about the rising tide of anti-Americanism in Cuba under the Castro government.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White also declined to discuss the White House meeting. He said reports this country is considering sanctions against Castro "are highly speculative matters on which I'll have no comment."

But informed sources said American officials are seriously considering the withdrawal of preferential trade benefits which this country now gives Cuba.

Lodge Leaves Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate at the United Nations, will leave Friday night for an official two-week visit to the Soviet Union.

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation said Monday the purpose of the trip is to visit U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and to "try to learn something about the country and its people."

Senate Passes Bill Tightening Election Financing Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a bill broadening and tightening controls on the financing of congressional and presidential election campaigns. Passage was by roll call vote, 59-22.

The measure goes far beyond present law in requiring reports disclosing where candidates for federal offices get campaign funds and how they spend the money.

It also provides new legal limits on expenditures in congressional and presidential races and prohibits individuals from contributing more than $10,000 a year to federal election campaigns.

The bill, revising the 35-year-old corrupt practices act, now goes to the House. The outlook for passage there, particularly in the measure's present form, is regarded as dim.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) already has spoken out against one of the bill's chief features — a provision making the legislation applicable to primaries as well as general elections.

Rayburn contended that the regulation of primaries should be left to the states.

Even if the senate bill should be passed by the House, it would not apply to this year's election campaigns. The Senate made the effective date Jan. 1, 1961.

Rockefeller's Phone Tax Plan Rejected By Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower rejected Monday a plea by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller that he permit the states to take over the 10 per cent federal telephone tax to meet education needs.

The President has asked Congress to extend the federal tax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration date. He told Rockefeller the federal government needs the money to help provide an anticipated $4,200,000,000 surplus that will be applied against the public debt.

Rockefeller was at the White House most of the day in connection with a meeting of the Civil Defense Committee of the U.S. Governors Conference. The governors discussed with Eisenhower federal-state local responsibility for civil defense.

Rockefeller heads the Civil Defense Committee.

Administration Battles Against Big Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats ran into solid administration opposition Monday in their drive for quick enactment of a billion-dollar emergency housing law.

Chairman Albert M. Rains (D-Ala.) of the House Banking subcommittee on housing said rising interest rates on federally-insured mortgages are depressing home building and colliding with the usury laws of some states.

But Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, leading a trio of President Eisenhower's top housing aides to the opening of hearings on the measure, retorted that a big infusion of federal dollars would be inflationary, unnecessary, and costly to taxpayers.

To make it clear that Eisenhower—who vetoed two housing bills last session for economy reasons—is against the new proposal, Mason said: "I have been authorized to advise that the enactment of the bill would not be in accord with the program of the President."

Rains forecast a substantial decline in housing this spring unless the government pumps credit into the Federal Housing Administration and GI-loan programs.

Rains said some FHA-insured mortgages "are breaking the usury laws in three or four states" through extra charges added by lenders to the 5 1/2 per cent interest rate which FHA permits.

In Maryland and Tennessee, he said, financing costs have hit the legal interest ceiling and "as interest rates rise Alabama and some other states won't be able to get FHA financing."

The usury laws of several states limit interest charges to six per cent. Elsewhere the rate maximum is seven or eight per cent.

Armed Mobs Stay Behind Barricades

De Gaulle Warns Defiant Settlers His Policy Stands

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle Monday sent Premier Michel Debre on a trouble-shooting mission to embattled Algiers where armed mobs have risen up against De Gaulle's moderate Algerian policy.

The move reflected deep government concern over the bloody Sunday clashes in which 25 rightist French settlers and police were killed.

From 1,000 to 3,000 insurgents defied martial law and warnings to lay down their arms behind barricades of paving stones and barbed wire in the heart of the city.

Parachute troopers and Foreign Legionnaires surrounded the two makeshift fortresses of the die-hard remnants of 20,000 Europeans who demonstrated against De Gaulle's self-determination policy for Algeria's nine millions.

Strict secrecy surrounded Debre's movements as he set out for the Algerian capital where contact with the rest of the world had all but ceased late Monday night. Army-controlled cables and telephone calls were indefinitely delayed and Algiers radio went off the air.

It was reported that the ranks of the insurgents were considerably thinned out. Unusually cold weather and lack of sleep for the past 36 hours drove many to abandon the barricades.

Some Europeans continued to defy the 8 p. m. Algiers curfew but the police were reported taking no action.

Debre left Paris unannounced after an emergency Cabinet session called to consider the crisis. The ministers were reported split over the measures to be taken but a communique issued after the meeting warned that there would be no turning back from De Gaulle's policies.

The Cabinet confirmed previous orders to Gen. Maurice Challe, commander in chief in Algeria, to use force, if necessary, to restore order.

The government is "resolved to maintain the Algerian policy it has adopted and to assure a return to public order as rapidly as possible," the communique said.

Debre, 48, is a staunch Gaullist and an unbending supporter of the government's Algerian policy. He met privately with De Gaulle after the Cabinet meeting at the presidential palace.

Troop reinforcements were pulled out of the five-year old war against the Algerian nationalist rebels and are streaming into Algiers.

There were no reports of further fighting.

Jupiter Missile Shot Is Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — An Army-built Jupiter, America's most versatile ballistic missile, streaked into the sky Monday night in its first military test shot of 1960.

The gleaming white rocket, standing 60 feet tall, coated its launch pad with liquid fire and eased gradually into the air at about 7:48 p.m. e.s.t.

The launch appeared normal.

The Army in Washington termed the firing of the 1,500-mile-range missile a success.

The Army said the missile was fired "over its standard range" and again demonstrated its "dependability."

Publisher To Establish Communications Center

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Publisher Samuel I. Newhouse has set up a multimillion dollar foundation, with the principal aim of developing the world's largest mass media education and research center.

The foundation came to light with the announcement here that Syracuse University will be the site of the center. Newhouse's two sons attended the university.

University officials foresee as many as six buildings in the future to house expanded studies in the fields of magazines, radio, television and related areas.

Newhouse, a university trustee, is publisher and owner of a group of daily newspapers and magazines, and also has radio-TV interests.

To get the communications project started, the foundation has earmarked an initial grant of two million dollars in the name of Newhouse and his wife.

There is no exact timetable for further gifts. Newhouse said they will be available on whatever basis is necessary for completion of the communications center.

The 64-year-old publisher hopes to see the project completed before his death. However, on his death, about 90 per cent of his estate — estimated now at more than 100 million dollars—will go to the foundation, with the communications center its No. 1 project.

Pope Presides At Rome's First Diocesan Synod

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII presided Monday at the initial deliberative session of Rome's first diocesan synod, an ecclesiastical council called to consider and deal with modern problems.

The Vatican's buildings flew yellow and white papal banners for the event that brought together 1,300 clergymen, ranging from parish priests of Rome to cardinals.

The synod was called by the Pope a year ago, soon after his election as supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church. He opened it Sunday at the basilica of St. John Lateran, his episcopal see as bishop of Rome.

Monday, in the Vatican Palace's Hall of Benedictions, he invoked the spiritual guidance of St. Peter and St. Paul. In his address to the synod, meeting in secret ses-sion, the Pope spoke almost ex-clusively about the priest and his mission.

The synod then plowed into the reading of the first of 770 pro-posed articles drawn up during a year of preparations. These may not be officially published for some time. But Vatican sources said it is known they deal with aspects of conduct, for priest and layman. These include such mat-ters as television and radio, smok-ing and use of automobiles by clergymen.

Ex-Convict Charged With Murder Of Wife

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace charged Harry William Cornish Jr. with the murder of his 42-year-old wife Monday. The 36-year-old Negro was held at Dorchester County jail.

Cornish, object of a two-state search after his wife, Emma, was found shot to death earlier Mon-day in their home near Hurlock, Md., was picked up in Dover, Del. The woman's body was found by her son, Henry Luke.

Maryland State Police said Cor-nish had been released on parole June 6, 1958. He had served most of an 18-year term in the peniten-tiary on a second-degree murder charge.

State troopers found a .38 cal-iber revolver in a stream off the road between Federalsburg and Bridgetown, Del., Monday after-noon. Police said Cornish told them where the weapon was. It contained both empty and loaded cartridges, they said.

Paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu, whose ouster as military chief of the Algiers district sparked the disorders, remained secluded at the Ecole Militaire in Paris. He was removed by De Gaulle for opposing his Algerian policy. The idol of French settlers, he is ex-pected to be reassigned far from Algeria.

The government is "resolved to maintain the Algerian policy it has adopted and to assure a re-turn to public order as rapidly as possible," a communique said.

The French settlers fear they will lose their rights and property if the big Algerian majority gets self-rule.

In a censored dispatch from Al-giers, Associated Press corre-spondent Andrew Borowiec re-ported the army appeared to be in firm control of the city except for two barricaded fortresses.

Both barricaded areas are near the center of the city. The French government said there were up-ward of 500 men in each. Other sources said the insurgents might number 3,000 or more.

Worker Suffers Torture Before Thumb Is Freed

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Please cut my thumb off and get me out of here," Joseph Caudel pleaded agonizingly today.

The 24-year-old workman's thumb was caught between a cable and the reel of a crane be-ing used to demolish a building.

Rescuers couldn't cut the cable because the heavy boom might crush Caudel or hundreds of wit-nesses.

A doctor gave Caudel some mor-phine to ease his pain. A second crane finally arrived to lift the first and Caudel was freed after an hour and quarter of torture.

Dr. Charles Tommasello, whose office is nearby, climbed the crane to inject Caudel with mor-phine. Fellow workmen had to hold Caudel who was thrashing

Gem. Thief On FBI Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Monday placed Ted Jacob Rinehart, a vicious jewel thief who tries to curb his temper with tranquilizers, on its list of 10 most wanted criminals.

The FBI said Rinehart has been a criminal for nearly half of his 33 years and has boasted he will make the notorious killer "Baby Face" Nelson "look like a piker." He is armed and "extremely dan-gerous."

The FBI has been looking for him since last July 23 when he vanished from Florida after being suspected of numerous house-breakings and jewel thefts from fashionable homes.

The FBI said Rinehart shows "a definite fondness" for scotch, likes expensive cars and diamond rings, smokes expensive cigars, uses tranquilizers extensively, dresses neatly and often wears sun glasses. He indulges in heavy drinking bouts during which his brutal temper comes to the fore.

The FBI said Rinehart, a man of many aliases, uses proceeds from his thefts to finance frequent trips to Las Vegas, Nev., gam-bling houses.

Actress Diana

In Hollywood, Miss Barrymore's half-sister, Dolores, daughter of Barrymore and Dolores Costello, became hysterical when told of Diana's death.

Miss Barrymore, a reformed al-coholic who described her hectic life in a recent autobiography, was the widow of actor Robert W. Wilcox, who died of a heart at-tack in a Pullman compartment five years ago.

The tempestuous daughter of ac-tor Barrymore and the late poet Michael Strange recently had been linked romantically with play-wright Tennessee Williams. They had been reported on the verge of marriage, although they professed to be "only good friends."

In 1955, Miss Barrymore took an overdose of sleeping pills and was treated at a hospital. She said later she took the pills "to calm my nerves."

Miss Barrymore was the niece of actress Ethel Barrymore and actor Lionel Barrymore, both de-ceased. She made a strenuous effort to establish a theatrical career in the tradition of the fa-mous "Royal Family of Broad-way," but she never quite made the grade.

"The policeman's call was transferred to the director's office, but apparently he hung up before any further action on his request could be taken," Gilmer said.

He added it is against hospital policy to send doctors out of the emergency room.

"I think it is deplorable that a man must suffer because a hos-pital refuses to supply a doctor for him," Dr. Tommasello said.

Kangaroo Meat Inquiry Asked

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The state Justice Department said to-day it has information that as much as two million pounds of kangaroo meat has been imported from Australia by an unnamed Pennsylvania firm.

Attorney General Anne X. Al-pern made the disclosure in ask-ing a public hearing on alleged violations of state meat regula-tions before Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning.

"If no proper explanation of the violation of basic meat regulations is received, action will be taken by the department of justice," Miss Alpern said in a statement.

The justice department said at least 3,000 pounds of kangaroo meat were stored in Pittsburgh last year and seized by the agri-culture department. A shipment of 6,360 pounds of the meat went from Pittsburgh to Wilkes-Barre late last year, the department added.

The statement continued: "There is very rigorous inspec-tions in Pennsylvania of meat that is slaughtered for human con-sumption. There is careful super- vision of meat that is used for pets. None of the kangaroo meat has ever been sold on the coun-ter as kangaroo meat. It has been used without disclosure as to the nature of the meat."

Miss Alpern declined to elab-orate on the statement. She said the names of the alleged violators will be withheld until after the hearing.

Clerk Outruns Man Who Gave Him Bad Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fleet-footed clerk at the Dupont Plaza Hotel Monday recognized, outran and captured a man the FBI said had given him a bad check for $100 in September.

Joe Torsella, the clerk, was lending his counter, the FBI said, when a well dressed man ap-proached with another check to cash.

Torsella recalled the suspect as the same man who gave him a bad check and got away Sept. 27. He made a grab for the suspect but didn't catch him until the two had raced about a block.

The suspect was overpowered by the clerk and brought back to the hotel. The FBI, who took the man into custody identified him as Stanley Abrahamson, 24, of New York, a salesman.

He was charged with interstate transportation of stolen property, meaning the $100 check drawn against the Manufacturers' Trust Co. of New York and cashed at the hotel.

Dog Coaxed Away From Lonely Vigil

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP) — A mongrel dog maintained a three-day vigil beside the body of an equally nondescript pal before police finally coaxed him away Sunday.

Prince Georges County police said they were called by a wor-ried resident. The caller had no-ticed a large hound-type dog had been standing protectively since Thursday beside the body of a smaller dog struck by a car on John Hanson Highway.

Efforts to coax it away met with only snarls, they were told.

Two policemen went to the scene and were greeted with growls and bared teeth. It took 15 minutes to entice the dog into their car.

At police headquarters, Mrs. Di-anna Simmons, a station clerk and the owner of two high-bred boxers, brought out a can of horsemeat, table scraps and half a loaf of bread which the dog gulped raven-ously. It was to be taken to the county animal shelter.

New Paris Fashions Put Accent Squarely On Sex

PARIS (AP) — If Jean Patou's hip. For the first time in a Paris show doesn't turn out to be the sexiest of the season, then Paris really has something to look for-ward to.

When necklines aren't low down, they're draped up to have a tri-angle below the bustline. Bodices are slit to the waist in the back, and long skirts are flounced and slit to the knee in front.

Creamy blonde colors and warm corals highlight the collection, which includes lots of linen, slim prints, Shantung and crepes, Navy, pink, black, and white also are popular.

False two-piece dresses with matching short jackets or tunic-length coats make up most of the daytime clothes. It's hard to tell the suits from the dresses, for even these have blouses attached at the top of the hip. The corselet-midriff cut is often belted and bowed above the waistline with a narrow band of the same materi-al. False tunic effects are carried out in a similar way with a band above the knees.

There are some puff skirts in chiffon print, and a lot of low-cut black crepe sheaths with "femme fatale" written all over them. Griffe's show Monday morning featured almost equally short skirts but a slightly lowered waist-line. In the Griffe show many skirts were flared to a graceful, ladylike line. Collars were big and important, and coats and jackets had deep batwing sleeves.

HELPING HAND FOR A YOUNG LADY

The morning rush hour was in full swing as the C & P installer slowed his small panel truck at one of Baltimore's busiest intersections. He could hear the angry sound of many auto horns. Then he saw the cause.

Stalled across 4 lanes of traffic was an old car. All alone in the car was a young lady, trying frantically to start the motor. A tremendous traf-fic jam of cars was piling up in the blocked lanes.

Horns were honking, blood pressures were rising, as drivers too far down the street to see the cause of the tie-up tried to hurry its untan-gling with a blast of their horns.

The C & P truck pulled to a stop. The driver jumped out, walked over to the stalled car, and spoke to the young lady. Then he pushed the car and the young driver to the far curb. You could almost hear the sigh of relief from the young lady, and the stalled motorists, as traffic began to move again.

To the young man from C & P, this was all part of a day's work. (We know this because one of you readers took the time to write and tell us about his act of courtesy.) We at C & P believe courtesy makes our day and your day more pleasant. Lending a helping hand to others, on or off the job, is a courteous service we're glad to extend.

Award Standard Not Met

The Animal Welfare Society of Allegany County decided that no single deed of outstanding kindness to animals in the county during 1959 was deserving of the special award plaque, offered annually by the group. The decision was made at a meeting of the awards committee at the home of Mrs. W. Earle Cobby, The Dingle.

The society commended especially the animal work of Roger Lee Long, Paul, David and John Fields, John and Tom Growden, all of whom were recipients of monthly awards.

It was felt that last year's award to James Lewis of Eckhart, for the rescue of his dogs from a mine shaft set a standard which was not met by any cases reported to the club during the past year.

Louis Young, president of the society, announces that its associate, The American Humane Association, is offering a $10,000 prize to the inventor of a painless trap for large and small wild animals. Those interested may obtain details by writing to the AHA, 896 Pennsylvania Street, Denver, 3, Colorado.

New officers and trustees will be elected at the annual meeting/sandwiches.

CC Board To Meet

Features of the 1960 program will be discussed at a meeting of the executive board of the County Council of Homemakers Clubs, to be held February 1. It will be in the Cumberland public library, beginning at 10:30.

An officers training session will follow the meeting. Club problems are to be discussed.

There will be a short break for those wishing to go out for lunch. Members may bring their own sandwiches.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday our 10-year-old Lisa came from school with a nosebleed. She got into an argument with a girl on the way home. The girl hit her. My husband said "I hope you hit the big lummo back good and hard." Lisa said she didn't want to get into a brawl on the street so she ran ahead and came home.

My husband lectured her sternly and called her a "frisky cat."

I said I was proud of Lisa for not wanting to get into a fist fight.

He said I was wrong. Am I?

Now Science Stops Useless* Coughing with a Tiny Tablet and a sip of water!

Controls nerves that control coughing due to colds and excessive smoking. Helps break up bronchial congestion—raises phlegm.

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special) A major breakthrough in cough control is now announced with the introduction to the public of a new anti-cough tablet. It's a tiny tablet... to be taken with a sip of water. Working through the bloodstream, this remarkable tablet stops useless coughing up to 6 full hours. Called DONDRIL Anti-Cough Tablets, this entirely new concept in cough control is now available without prescription. The astonishing relief offered by DONDRIL is made possible by a combination of three great medicines... a unique antitussive, a medically-proven decongestant and an exclusive antihistamine. DONDRIL has twice the effectiveness of codeine, yet is non-narcotic. Get DONDRIL Anti-Cough Tablets. Money back if not satisfied. DONDRIL is a trademark.

* What is useless coughing?

There are two kinds of coughs: 1. Productive—the occasional useful cough that clears the throat and bronchial tubes. DONDRIL does not interfere with the useful cough. 2. Non-Productive—the napping cough that racks the body, uselessly, and serves no purpose. DONDRIL stops useless coughing.

A Black Month
For Aviation

January 1960 is certain to go down in the records books as one of the blackest months in the history of commercial aviation.
On January 6 a National Airlines plane carried 34 persons to their deaths in a crash near Bolivia, N. C. Then a Capital Airlines plane plunged to earth near Holdcraft, Va., killing 50 more. Forty-two lives were lost when a Scandinavian jet liner crashed on a hill near Ankara, Turkey.
Finally, a Columbian airliner bound from New York to South America was wrecked and burned while landing on the island of Jamaica. The 37 persons who perished in that crash brought the toll for the first three weeks of 1960 to a horrifying total of 163 lives.
These tragedies, shocking as they are, will not produce more than a small and temporary dip in the hordes of passengers who stream to the air terminals. The public has great confidence in the safety of air travel, confidence built by many millions of accident-free miles.
Aviation has always progressed from other accidents to better safety measures and greater public patronage, and past history can be expected to repeat.

However, the men and women who have perished will have died in vain if the living do not institute the most exhaustive investigations to find out what went wrong each time and take every feasible measure to forestall a repetition. The cause may be pilot failure, a bomb carried aboard, inadequate instrumentation, or any one of a hundred others. Each must be tracked down.

In the meantime, it seems obvious that only the strangest kind of coincidence could have produced so many air tragedies at such widely separated spots on the globe in such a brief period of time. This lends hope that aviation has already seen its worst days as far as 1960 is concerned.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Propaganda Books

Presidential aspirants apparently regard it as essential to have biographical books published and they are coming in like flies around a sugar bowl. Most of them are inadequate descriptions of political personalities whose lives have been on the dullish side except for their ambitions. After all, what one politician has to do, most of them have to do, and while one may be cleverer than the other, they all come to the same thing.
There have been several books on Nixon. The only one that I have read was by Ralph de Toledano because I know of his long friendship with Nixon. I therefore assume that, although biased, he is likely to be sufficiently familiar with the candidate to be able to describe him. One book on any candidate is enough. Now comes another volume on Nixon by William Costello who announces it as "An Unauthorized Biography" and himself as "White House Correspondent."

I assume that the phrase "unauthorized biography" is designed to make the reader feel that it is something altogether different and without bias. However, a man can only live one life and Nixon's has been one of those gold-fish bowl lives so that everybody knows most everything about him except how he manages his psyche and his id. If one wishes to go Freudian on the guy. To interpret him historically, it is necessary for him to serve as President, to die, for half a century to pass, and for the gentlemen who do research in Ivy Towers to pass judgment. Current literature about a living person is always biased, pro or con, no matter who writes it.

Costello is honest in his Foreword in his statement of sources, except that in spots his language is so close to Ralph de Toledano's that he should give him a better regard than merely to say "Mention should also be made of earlier volumes on the Vice President."

Little in this or any of the other biographies I receive will win a single delegate. They do provide a picture of a man who runs for office and there are so many of them, but that is not how candidates are nominated. Usually it is done by deals and arrangements among those who control delegations.

They know those who aspire to be candidates. They have met them and their associates and have some measure of their strength and weakness, their reliability and their trickiness. They do not need to go to a "White House Correspondent" for such information. In fact, most politicians avoid such folks as "White House Correspondents" unless they want something.

New York State presents an exciting example of how the national convention business is managed. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is in a life-and-death struggle with Carmine DeSapio for the control of the New York State delegation. Both are pros. Mrs. Roosevelt has as allies former Senator Herbert Lehman and Thomas K. Finletter. Carmine DeSapio has as allies most of the County Chairmen. Mrs. Roosevelt depends upon New York City scandals to lower DeSapio's prestige; DeSapio depends upon the normal response of County Chairmen to reformers which is to hope that they drop dead before they can do more damage. Mrs. Roosevelt is a very able politician and is particularly good at public relations. So is Carmine DeSapio.

The fight is over who is to control the delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Mrs. Roosevelt will favor Adlai Stevenson; Carmine DeSapio is likely to go to the Convention emotionally prepared to accept either Senator John Kennedy or Senator Lyndon Johnson and even hopeful that Mayor Robert F. Wagner might get a fair look-in for the Vice Presidency. On that subject, if John Kennedy gets the Democratic nomination, Wagner cannot run for Vice President. Both are Easterners; both are Roman Catholics. A ticket must be better balanced.

On the other hand, if the Democratic leaders of this state feel that it would be preferable to get Wagner out of the way before the 1961 municipal election, they might favor a Johnson-Wagner ticket. Senator Tom Platt used this formula when he had Governor Theodore Roosevelt nominated as Vice President. Theodore was elected; the President, William McKinley, was shot and the first Roosevelt became President to Tom Platt's great distress.

Thus are politicians outwitted by fate. It could happen again with or without a biographer.

WASHINGTON

A deeply disturbing conflict of the highest official opinion, on the sole problem which literally involves the survival of the United States, was unobtrusively revealed last week.

The problem of the missile gap was painted in the rosiest, most reassuring colors in Congressional testimony by the able new Secretary of Defense, Thomas Gates, and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan Twining. Gen. Twining even suggested that it was downright unpatriotic to regard the missile gap as constituting a problem.

Almost simultaneously, the same problem was painted in the most somber and alarming colors by the Strategic Air Commander, Gen. Thomas Power. Virtually no attention was given to the extraordinary speech, before the New York Economic Club, by the man who has more responsibility than anyone else for bridging the missile gap. Yet the message of SAC's brilliant leader was as grave as possible, as can be seen from the following excerpts:

"If (the Soviets) could effectively threaten us from a position of such military superiority that we would feel unable to defend ourselves, our capability to resist... would be greatly reduced, if not nullified. (Such) military superiority would be achieved through accumulation of (enough) ballistic missiles to destroy our retaliatory forces before they could be launched. Surprisingly, this would not take very many missiles under present conditions... The total number of installations and facilities from which we can launch nuclear-armed aircraft or missiles at this moment is only about 100. All of these facilities present 'soft targets'—that is, they could suffer crippling damage even (from) a near miss."

"... It would take an average of three missiles, in their current stage of development, to give an aggressor a mathematical probability of 95 per cent that he can destroy one given soft target, from 5,000 miles away. This means that, with only some 300 ballistic missiles, the Soviets could virtually wipe out our entire nuclear strike capability within a span of 30 minutes. To further heighten this threat, only about half these missiles would have to be ICBMs. The rest could be the smaller intermediate range ballistic missiles."

These words, so terrible in their implications as will be seen, were in the hands of the Pentagon censorship for no less than three weeks. During this interminable "processing," Gen. Power's speech was extensively pruned and toned down. If Gen. Power's facts could have been attacked, the censors would surely have pruned them too. Hence the foregoing must be accepted as the first authoritative statement, from a source commanding absolute belief, of the missile capability the Soviets now need to bring this country to its knees.

As might have been expected, Gen. Power did not overtly challenge the views expressed by Secretary Gates and Gen. Twining. But the challenge is plain enough and terrible enough, if you place Gen. Power's statement of facts against its background of theory. The theory of deterrence, which gives the key to Gen. Power's speech, is not merely accepted by Gen. Power and Secretary Gates and Gen. Twining. It is also accepted by Nikita S. Khrushchev, as he disclosed in the most significant passage of his recent speech to the Supreme Soviet.

In brief, true deterrence depends on careful calculations of "first strike capability" and "counter-strike capability." The United States today, for instance, has enough nuclear striking power to destroy the Soviet Union ten times over. But the Soviet Union today also has formidable nuclear striking power. The United States therefore has no "first strike capability," if our first strike cannot take out all the pinpoint targets presented by the Soviet panoply of nuclear power. We have first of all to destroy this power before it gets off the ground. If we cannot do this, our first strike will merely trigger the Soviet "counter-strike capability." If we are thus faced with the prospect of national destruction by the enemy's counter-strike, we are effectively "deterred." Just this is

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

IN THE OPEN—Former Republican National Committee Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who has been working for Vice President Richard M. Nixon's Presidential nomination under cover for a year or more, has now come out in the open.

Hall has taken a hotel suite in Washington which will serve both as his home and office. He has become available to political personalities, potential GOP Convention delegates—and reporters. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller defeated Hall for the GOP nomination for that office in 1958. Many claim that Hall, who had strong aspirations for the governor's chair, took the defeat in poor grace and has been out to keep Rockefeller from the White House ever since.

However, it is generally overlooked by this group that Hall has been a Nixon supporter for many years. It was Hall who changed the 1956 drive to unseat Nixon for Vice President into an event that worked to Nixon's advantage.

Healthy Oldsters Usually Stand Surgery Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Surgery is easier to perform on the elderly than on younger persons. Oldsters' muscles are weaker and more easily relaxed by the anesthetic, the excessive fat of middle age is gone, and there is less bleeding because the circulation is not as active as in earlier life.

Many older persons are not aware of these advantages and continue to fear surgery, even when it is necessary. This attitude is a hangover from the days when an operation on a man of 70 was extremely hazardous. It was done as a last resort. The relatives consented because they didn't want Grandpa to suffer any more or refused the operation "to let Grandpa die in peace."

The chance of surviving an operation at any age is better when the individual is not dehydrated.

starved, in shock, or a victim of heart or lung disease. Barring these major handicaps, I'm always amazed at the ease with which the 70 or 80 year old sails through an extensive surgical procedure.

The mental condition of the older man may confuse the issue when surgery is contemplated. The senile may distort their symptoms or reactions to the disease process. This interferes with the true diagnosis and the physician's ability to evaluate the severity of the distress.

This is particularly true when the older man exaggerates the degree of pain or disability in order to get attention from a son or daughter. The situation is more difficult to handle when a relative becomes desperate and tries to coerce the surgeon into doing a useless operation. This is when a consultation is essential.

Procrastination by the elderly is another handicap, especially when a life-saving operation is needed. Appendicitis, for example, no longer is a problem except in our senior citizens. Peritonitis is becoming more common in this age group because oldsters wait to long before consulting a physician. Their sense of pain is less acute and they have a mistaken idea they are too old to get appendicitis.

Every elderly individual should realize that our modern surgeons and surgical procedures will go a long way toward prolonging life and happiness.

GOP Senator Keating Played Joke
On ICA—And American Taxpayers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The public didn't get the real story behind the picture of foreign aid consultant Pantelis Milous with his feet on desk, complaining that he was overpaid and underworked.

The unreported fact was that the International Cooperation Administration didn't want to hire Milous in the first place, but was pressured into giving him a job by Sen. Ken Keating of New York. The white-maned Republican has built quite a reputation as a funny senator, but there was nothing very funny about what he did to ICA and the American taxpayer.

He telephoned Deputy Director D. A. Fitzgerald and ordered him to put Milous on the payroll.

"I want you to find Pantelis Milous a job and to send me written confirmation before the day is over," demanded Keating.

Fitzgerald agreed to pay the senator's friend $42 a day as a "consultant" for three months until an opening could be found overseas.

The agency assigned Milous to prepare two reports. They proved so unsatisfactory that he could not possibly qualify for an overseas assignment. But because Keating insisted, Milous was "the kind of American who should represent us overseas," the personnel people kept looking for something he could do.

In desperation, two personnel officers finally called upon Keating and explained that ICA could not possibly use Milous. The senator agreed to seek employment elsewhere for his friend but asked ICA to extend the consultancy another 30 days—so Milous could go on collecting his $42-a-day while waiting for another job to turn up.

The week before his 30-day extension ran out, Milous decided to depart in a blaze of glory. He proclaimed to the press quite correctly that he had been paid $4,320 as a consultant; but had never been consulted. He did not offer to return the $4,320.

ICAA spokesmen discreetly did not mention that Milous had been forced upon the agency by Senator Keating. A great friend of Nixon's, Keating may be the next Vice President of the United States.

Note — Keating's humorous speeches were written for him by Hugh Morrow, former correspondent of The Saturday Evening Post. Now that Morrow has gone to work for Nelson Rockefeller, Keating isn't so funny anymore.

Deep Anti-Semitism

How deeply anti-semitism has penetrated the German people is illustrated by a letter just received from my nephew, Evan Kemp Jr., in Frankfurt, Germany. Recently out of college, Evan went abroad with a friend, David Robinson of Cleveland, where they got jobs selling mutual funds to Americans in Germany. His letter tells its own story:

"We had an interesting experience in Frankfurt one Saturday night, about six-thirty, when Dave and I were just about to go out for the evening. Our landlady came in and told us to pack up and get out. Needless to say, we were mystified and a bit mad, because it was inconvenient to find rooms on the weekend in Frankfurt. Besides we both had seven o'clock dates.

"I asked her why we were being thrown out, and she said 'You Jew boys are no good. Get out or I will call the police. You give me no pleasure.'

"As we were packing I asked her why she thought we were Jewish; she said, 'Because of the name David Robinson.'

What The Funds Buy

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — Two of the most successful banking houses in Wall Street are Lehman Brothers and Lazard Freres. Both firms formed at about the same time large investment companies — One William Street Fund by the former and Lazard Fund by the latter.

Their decision in the spring of 1958 to organize such investing companies showed their confidence was far from general.

Since then both business and the stock market have boomed, more than justifying their confidence.

The funds are not strictly comparable. Lazard has had no continuing offering of its shares, as One William Street has.

Lazard emphasis is on capital gains and its investments are more restricted. Also it is a smaller fund — having $148 million in assets compared with $295 million for One William.

While One William is interested in capital gains, it is equally interested in a reasonable return on capital. It has a larger and broader investment portfolio. One William has investments in 191 common stocks. Lazard investments are in 63.

Interestingly, in spite of the difference in their prime goals and also the differences in their overall investments, they agree on 20 common stocks:

Aluminum Co. of America, Armco Steel, Caterpillar Tractor, E. I. duPont, Firestone Tire & Rubber, B. F. Goodrich, Good-year Tire & Rubber, Gulf Oil, International Business Machines, International Nickel, International Paper, Republic Steel, Reynolds Metals, Royal Dutch Petroleum, Shell Oil, Southern California Edison, Tennessee Gas Transmission, Texaco, Travelers Insurance and Union Carbide.

Of these, six are in the Dow Jones price averages for 30 industrial stocks. This average is the market yardstick.

In changes made in their portfolio investments in the last quarter of 1959, the two trusts agree on only three purchases — International Nickel, Royal Dutch and Texaco.

On sales, there was no agreement. While Lazard eliminated its 15,000-share holdings in Scott

"Blond, blue-eyed Dave was taken aback by this and said he never heard of a Jew with the name of Robinson. She said she never heard of a Gentile with the name of David.

"She was so anxious to get rid of us that we were able to talk her out of those silly German extras they seem to put on all bills. We also paid her for only four nights when we had been there five. She wanted to get rid of us so badly she discounted the bill 30 per cent, which was about $7.50 savings for us. Their anti-semitic feeling is certainly real and quite frightening.

"It is also terrifying to hear them say that Hitler was good for Germany until 1944, and that Germany needs to expand her borders to take care of her increasing population."

No. 1 Product—Babies

George Kasem first Arab ever elected to Congress, claims that his congressional district, outside Los Angeles, is the fastest-growing in the nation. It has trebled its population in the last ten years.

Defending the consumer on the floor of the house, Kasem engaged in a sharp exchange on tariff policies with GOP Rep. Keith Thompson of Wyoming, a high tariff man.

"I am sorry," inquired Thompson testily, "but I do not know what the gentleman's district is. What is your principal item of production?"

"We produce babies," replied Kasem.

Merry-Go-Round

Matt Kenny, new UPI bureau chief in Havana, took a train with Fidel Castro the other day on the promise of getting an interview. After 17 hours of waiting he was finally ushered into "the presence." Castro made an 85-minute political harangue. Kenny had no chance to ask questions. That was that... Sen. Dick Neuberger of Oregon was the only senator from a cranberry state who defended Arthur Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, for his banning of contaminated cranberries. Paper, One William newly acquired 25,000 shares.

On groups, the two trusts have a similar liking for aluminum, certain oils and the rubbers. Neither fund now holds American Telephone, although Lazard initially had a big position in this stock, selling out at a profit on the stock split.

A major Lazard investment is $7 million in 140,000 shares of Georgia-Pacific. One William holds none. Lazard did sell 10,000 shares of this stock in the last quarter.

One William has investments in five New York banks. Lazard holds none. Lazard has stock in four railroads, One William none. These are the stocks One William Street eliminated from its portfolio: Beech-Nut Life Savers, Diamond Alkali, Eastern Airlines, Maryland Casualty, Middle South Utilities, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Socony Mobil Oil, Trane, Virginia Electric & Power and Wisconsin Electric Power.

In addition One William reduced its holdings in Bristol-Myers, Duquesne Light and Food Fair Stores.

Lazard in addition to Scott Paper eliminated its holdings in Santa Fe, Connecticut General Life Insurance, Inland Steel, Michelin, Societes De Usines Chimiques Rhone-Poulenc, Texas Utilities and Union Oil & Gas of Louisiana "A" stock.

Lazard reduced its investment in Armco, Armour, Georgia-Pacific, Jones & Laughlin Steel, Manufacturers de Saint-Gobain, Owens-Corning Fiberglass, Reynolds Metals, Steel Co. of Wales, Ltd., and Tennessee Corp.

Lazard made new investments in American Brake Shoe, American Smelting, Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Ltd., and Shell Oil. It increased its holdings of Aetna Life, Firestone, Glens Falls Insurance, International Nickel, Johns-Manville, Miami Copper, Royal Dutch, Texaco and Travelers Insurance.

One William Street made these new acquisitions: Bankers Trust, B. F. Goodrich, Manufacturers Trust, Sanders Associates, Scott Paper and Square "D."

Syracuse, Army Clash Nov. 5 At Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City officials, intent on again making the big town a center of big-time football, announced Monday that Syracuse, 1959 national collegiate champion, would play Army next Nov. 5 at Yankee Stadium rather than at West Point, N.Y., as originally scheduled.

The city made a successful start in its drive to lure first-class college football back to New York last fall when the Army-Air Force Academy game drew a capacity crowd of nearly 70,000 to Yankee Stadium.

Old Germans New York Moves To Dissolve Annex First Half Crown Teleprompter, Boxing Group

Beat Old Exports By Score 62-51 Charge Monopoly Of Title Fights, TV-Radio Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—The state of New York Monday moved to dissolve Teleprompter and Floyd Patterson Enterprises, Ltd., for allegedly attempting to monopolize heavyweight title fights and their movie-TV-radio rights.

State Atty. Gen. Louis G. Lefkowitz obtained a state Supreme Court order permitting him to begin action on the ground the two corporations acted "in flagrant violation of the state antitrust laws." He called it an "unholy alliance."

Denies Violation Irving B. Kahn, president of Teleprompter, was out of the city, but a spokesman for the corporation denied there had been any violation of the anti-monopoly or any other laws.

Floyd Patterson, former heavyweight champion, and his manager, Cus D'Amato, were not immediately available for comment. The attorney general's action grew out of an investigation into the promotion and movie-TV-radio rights of the heavyweight title fight last June 26 in which Patterson lost to Ingemar Johansson.

Teleprompter, described as a multimillion-dollar corporation, is active in numerous fields besides boxing.

It began with visual prompters to help in the delivering of speeches on television or radio. It developed teleprompting, a method of controlling lights and staging for television. It became active in closed circuit television in 1956 for business conferences and government training programs, including the missile field. Then it went into closed circuit television of sports events.

The attorney general's action apparently was aimed at the corporation as a whole rather than only its activities in relation to boxing.

Affidavits Filed General said Teleprompter and Patterson Enterprises undertook last year to control heavyweight title fights for five years. Through "subversive managers of contenders, interlocking directorate interests, and exclusive dominion of the lucrative motion picture, television and radio rights."

Patterson Enterprises, in which Patterson and D'Amato are the only stockholders, was to be guaranteed not less than 2½ million dollars over the five-year period, the papers said.

Johansson Is Voted Hickok $10,000 Belt

Heavy Champ Name Pro Athlete Of 1959

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Ingemar Johansson, the handsome Swede who took the world heavyweight title from Floyd Patterson in one of boxing's biggest upsets, Monday night received the Hickok "professional athlete of the year" award for 1959 and the $10,000 diamond-studded belt that goes with it.

The announcement of Johansson's triumph in the annual year-end poll was made at the Rochester Press and Radio Club dinner. Johansson, first European to hold the heavyweight crown since Max Schmeling of Germany in the 1930s, is the first foreign athlete to win the Hickok belt.

Unitas Is Runner-up

Johansson won the award by a margin of 74 points over John Unitas, 26-year-old quarterback for the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. Johansson received 50 first-place votes and a total of 228 points in nationwide balloting by sports writers and sportscasters. Unitas drew 29 first-place votes and 154 points.

Larry Sherry, Los Angeles Dodger pitcher and World Series hero, was third in the voting with 11 ballots for first and 107 points.

Bill For Transfer Of Fairgo Racing Dates Being Prepared

Livie Says Milers Must Act Fast To Obtain Extra Days

BALTIMORE (AP)—Negotiations are under way which could lead to purchase of half-mile tracks at Cumberland and Bel Air by Maryland's three major tracks, Chairman R. Bruce Livie of the State Racing Commission said Monday.

Legislative action would be necessary and Livie said he already has prepared a bill to authorize transfer of the racing dates.

"If the mile tracks (Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie) tell me that they have arranged for the purchase of Bel Air and Cumberland," he said, "I will have the bill introduced in the Legislature."

"And I would say that today they are very close to having made the deal. Of course, the tracks will have to act fast if they want to get the days this year."

The Legislature convenes Feb. 3 for a 30-day session.

Livie said Maryland's other three half-mile tracks, Timonium, Harford and Hagerstown, are not involved in the proposal.

"They will run their regular dates but we won't announce their 1960 schedule until after we get this other matter straightened away."

Each of the half-milers get 12 days of racing a year. The plan calls for each of the milers to get eight of the 24 days now belonging to Cumberland and Bel Air. This would lengthen the mile track season from 120 to 144 days.

The question came up most recently Saturday night when U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), president of the Cumberland Fair Assn., told association directors there were indications racing would be abandoned this year at Cumberland and Bel Air.

Cumberland was so short of horses last year—most of them were running in nearby West Virginia—that its meet was transferred to Hagerstown.

Livie said earlier he felt consolidation of tracks "is the only solution to saving Maryland racing or getting it back up to where it once was."

Golden Bears Gain On Cincy In Cage Poll

West Virginia 3d, Utah State Tenth

By EARL WRIGHT United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—California's defending NCAA basketball champions climbed within three points of the top-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats Monday in United Press International's major college ratings.

The Bearcats, hard-pressed during their 61-58 triumph over Duquesne at Pittsburgh in their only start last week, received 17 first-place votes and 326 points in the balloting by the 35 leading coaches who rate the teams for UPI.

This was the same point-total Cincinnati received last week, California's Golden Bears, idle last week, drew 14 first-place votes and 323 points. The Bears received 13 first-place votes and 318 points last week.

Utah State Newcomer West Virginia, Bradley, Ohio State and Georgia Tech remained 3-4-5-6 in the ratings. Villanova advanced from ninth to seventh. Utah was eighth, Texas A&M ninth and Utah State 10th.

Utah State was the only newcomer in the top 10, moving up from 12th. Southern California slipped from 10th to 12th.

North Carolina again headed the second 10 group. It was followed in order by Southern California, St. Louis, Kentucky, Iowa State, Kansas State, Iowa, Dayton, Wake Forest, St. Joseph's (Pa.) and Indiana. St. Joseph's and Indiana tied for 20th.

The coaches based their latest ballots on games played through last Saturday night. Each votes for 10 teams in the order he ranks them nationally. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place.

West Virginia drew one first-place vote and 25 points for Bradley received two votes for first place and 242 points. Ohio State received the other first-place vote and 220 points.

Exams Lighten Campaigns Georgia Tech received 104 points, Villanova 83, Utah 82, Texas A&M 62 and Utah State 53. Most teams currently are campaigning lightly because of mid-year exams. Cincinnati's only game this week will be against The Citadel Friday night at home. California has two home games, Friday night against Oregon and Saturday night with Oregon State.

West Virginia, idle last week, will play a road game with Pittsburgh Wednesday night and plays William and Mary Saturday at Norfolk, Va. Bradley, victor over Notre Dame in its only year after a 21-7 record as the start last week, plays at Marquette next Saturday. Ohio State entertains Michigan State Saturday in its only game this week.

Turley Rejects 24 Per Cent Cut

Hurler Joins Other Dissatisfied Yanks

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Pitcher Bob Turley said Monday the New York Yankees had offered him a contract calling for a 24 per cent cut in salary, and he is rejecting it.

"I got a contract one degree from all the way," the big right-hander said, referring to the 25 per cent maximum cut allowed in the major leagues.

"I can't understand it. They might as well have gone all the way," he said.

Turley thus joins outfielders Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris in the growing list of Yankees who are dissatisfied with their contract offers. Mantle also is bucking a big slash.

Turley reported got $32,000 last year after a 21-7 record as the start last week, plays at Marquette next Saturday. Ohio State entertains Michigan State Saturday in its only game this week.

"I always understood that if you weren't too rough on them in a good year they wouldn't be too rough when you had a bad one," Turley said. "It was kind of rough. I didn't expect that much of a slash."

Ruth's Tavern Wins

Ruth's Tavern won two out of three games from the Cumberland Owls last night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. Ruth Spera paced the winners with 18 points and Loretta Nevy and Evelyn Gray headed the Owls with 19 tallies each.

W.Va. Demos Unveil Program To Aid Jobless

Governor Issues Call For Action By Legislators

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Democrats in the West Virginia Legislature unveiled Monday alternate programs party leaders said the state could afford to help alleviate the plight of the unemployed.

One plan includes putting unemployed to work on a scaled-down parks improvement program, a more varied surplus food diet for the needy and a program of re-training displaced workers. The other plan would center around school improvements, with the unemployed doing a maximum of the work.

The proposals were outlined following a rare closed caucus of majority party members of both chambers. The money would come from raising whisky prices, continuing the present insurance premium tax and "cutting the fat out of the proposed budget," Senate President Ralph J. Bean said.

This came after Gov. Cecil H. Underwood had taken the lawmakers to task for criticizing his proposals for helping jobless workers. He said his program is sound and the only implementation it needs is revenue to finance it.

The two plans advanced at the Democratic caucus were turned over to a special subcommittee. A recommendation on which plan to be followed will be made at another joint caucus, probably later this week, Bean said.

4 Million Each
Under both plans $4,000,000 in state money would be allocated. One would channel $1,400,000 into parks improvements, $1,000,000 in vocational re-training of the unemployed and $1,000,000 to the Department of Public Assistance to supplement the diets of the families unemployed workers who have exhausted all other welfare benefits.

The other plan would set aside a definite amount to each county, with further allocations made on the basis of school enrollment for construction of new classrooms, libraries, parks and swimming pools.

Under both plans, a provision would be that only workers who have exhausted all forms of benefits can be given employment in the projects.

Underwood minced no words in his chastizing of the lawmakers. He said there was no failure on the part of his administration to submit appropriate legislation to set up his State Temporary Economic Program (STEP). He reiterated that it could be set up within the framework of existing laws.

'Rendezvous With Hunger'
"The need is for more money not for more laws," Underwood said. "This is a serious hour in the history of our state. This Legislature has a rendezvous with hunger. It is a meeting which cannot long be postponed."

"The time had passed for seminars, study groups, interim committees and pious resolutions. The hour has arrived when this Legislature must either act or abandon our unemployed to their fate."

In short business sessions, only routine business was handled in both chambers.

The House sent back to its Judiciary Committee for further study a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment which allow the state to become a defendant in suits. The Senate, also had the resolution at passage stage, but postponed final action for another day.

The House moved to passage stage Tuesday a bill to allow the Road Commission to issue $5,000,000 in road bonds under the 1920 Good Roads amendment.

Sen. Humphrey Ready To Enter W.Va. Primary

Tells Legislators Distress Areas Are A National Scandal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey said Monday he will enter his name on West Virginia's May 10 primary ballot if Sen. John F. Kennedy or "any other avowed candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination does so.

But the Minnesota senator indicated that he felt the $1,000 filing fee was too stiff to enter if no other major candidate got in.

He told a news conference that he has been "giving serious consideration" to entering the Mountain State primary, as he has in Wisconsin, South Dakota, Oregon and the District of Columbia.

"My ultimate decision will be whether or not Mr. Kennedy enters," Humphrey said. "If he does, I will not restrict it to Mr. Kennedy, however. That is to say, if any avowed presidential candidate with sufficient strength enters, I will accept the challenge and enter also."

Renews Challenge
At the same time, Humphrey renewed his challenge to Kennedy to enter the South Dakota primary against him, Kennedy, in turn, has challenged Humphrey to enter the Arkansas primary to test their farm belt support.

Humphrey maintained South Dakota would be the better testing ground because National Convention delegates there would be committed to the winner, unlike Arkansas — or West Virginia.

"If he has trouble raising the filing fee, I will help him," Humphrey quipped.

Humphrey said he would like to have a primary contest in West Virginia because "this is a good area politically: there are some southern tendencies, some northern, some eastern and some western among the people here. And I believe I talk the language of Democrats in West Virginia."

Poverty A Scandal
The Democratic presidential candidate told a joint session of the West Virginia Legislature that poverty existing in parts of the United States during an era of prosperity is "a national scandal."

The Minnesota senator said the fact that Legislature "is grappling with questions of supplying food for the hungry and other welfare measures points up the bitter fact that the prosperity we hear so much about is certainly not a general prosperity."

"We have a huge unfinished job in the United States; that is the job of providing economic security for all our people," he said. "There is not a simple solution to the problem of poverty. Just as there is no single, simple cause of poverty. It must be attacked on every front."

Humphrey said this means restoring the economic health of chronically depressed areas like West Virginia.

"I am sure you share the bitter regret that the President voiced the distressed areas bill, as well as another bill that has so much meaning for your state, the coal research bill," he told the Democratic-controlled Legislature.

Humphrey said more effort must be made to find greater uses for coal.

He also pointed out that last year more than 5 million Americans received surplus food handouts "but under this administration the law has been administered so that only those commodities in super-abundant supply have been made available."

"Corn meal, dried skim milk and flour are all wonderful commodities — but should an American child be expected to live on these alone?" Humphrey said.

"How can we bring peace to the world, how can we maintain our moral and spiritual leadership in the world, if we fail to demonstrate a capacity for taking care of our own people?"

Garrett Tax Bills Ready For Mailing

OAKLAND — Between 8,000 and 9,000 tax bills are scheduled to be mailed to citizens of Garrett county this week, according to Joseph Welch, county treasurer.

The list will not include tax on personal property or those business places paying direct through the State Tax Commission.

An effort is being made again this year to send out the tax bills as early as possible in the hope enough payments will be received to run the county for January, so that it would not be necessary to borrow on a short term loan as had been the case in previous years. The tax forms are the same size as last year and are light blue in color.

Welch said the list includes 203 more taxpayers than the previous year.

On all county taxes paid during January and February, a discount of five per cent is allowed. On all county tax paid during March and April, a discount of four per cent is permitted, and on all county taxes paid during May and June a discount of three per cent is allowed. No discount is allowed unless the whole amount of the tax for the current year is paid. No discount is allowed after June 30, and after September 30 interest is charged at the rate of one half per cent per month. No discount is allowed on state taxes.

The tax rate this year is $2.35 on each $100 of assessable property. The state tax rate is 1.375.

Mineral Co. Dimes Drive Progressing

KEYSER—Mrs. George E. Barger, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign for Mineral county, announced that the annual drive is making progress.

The National Foundation now uses its funds for the prevention and treatment of crippling diseases, arthritis and birth defects in addition to polio itself.

A county goal of $3,000 has been established for 1960 and cards are being mailed to individuals. Containers for voluntary donations will be placed in business places as soon as they are received from national headquarters.

Residents who do not receive a folder for his contribution may send in donations to the March of Dimes, care of Mrs. Barger, PO Box 11, Keyser, W. Va.

Patrick Healey, of Piedmont, has been designated campaign director for that area.

The charter of the National Foundation does not permit it to accept funds from the County United Fund, Mrs. Barger said. Therefore a separate drive is conducted each year.

Glenn Ryan, of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, has been named treasurer to succeed James W. Goldsworthy, principal at Keyser High School, who resigned the post.

MIDLAND — Announcement has been made of the wedding of Paula M. Buppert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buppert, Victory Villa, Baltimore, and Richard Lance Harclerode, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harclerode, Kootz Avenue, Midland.

Piedmont Library Will Open Jan. 30

PIEDMONT — The tentative date for the opening of the Piedmont library is January 30, according to Mrs. Elmer Shaver, library committee chairman.

The library will be housed in a building fronting Kalbaugh Alley, just off Ashfield Street. The building has been leased from Dr. F. D. DeMarino and John Dennison.

Work of renovating and making necessary alterations was completed last week by the contractor, Arnold G. Clark. The walls have been covered with plasterboard, and a new front has been installed with two windows and door. Tile was laid on the floor, and electric lights have been installed in the room and outside. The new front has been painted white. The interior was also painted.

James McHenry and Norman Baughman will have charge of moving the equipment now stored at the Fredrick building into the new quarters. Miss Frances Ott will issue invitations to guests to attend the opening and Mrs. Roberta Johnson will be in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Bernadine Appel was appointed to serve as librarian. The library will be open Wednesdays from 2 to 5 p. m. and Saturdays from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

The County United Fund will contribute a monthly check to the library. The check will be mailed to Mrs. Lois Bell, treasurer.

The Woman's Club, which sponsors the library, voted a $100 donation to the library at its December meeting. A donation of $100 or more is also expected from the Mineral County Court.

The library committee will hold its next meeting Wednesday, January 27.

Civic Leaders Hear History Of C&O Canal

Park Project Head Addresses Group

The history of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal was related to Western Maryland civic leaders here yesterday by Edwin M. Dale, superintendent of the proposed C & O Canal Historical Park Project.

About 26 representatives of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, Allegany County, the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Cumberland Outdoor Club and Garrett County organizations attended the meeting called by the Tourist and Convention committee of the Chamber.

The canal, Mr. Dale said, is unique in that it is the only canal which has been set aside for public use to tell the story of a great era in transportation and communication.

Legislation under which the project is proposed, he said, would make it possible to develop the recreational facilities along the canal not only for Marylanders but for residents of neighboring states.

Part Planned Here

Part of the history of the canal began in Cumberland, he said, when George Washington—probably while he was here on the ill-fated Braddock expedition—began to see the possibilities of using the Potomac River to connect Fort Cumberland and Georgetown.

The company formed to develop the river route failed to meet its objectives — to render the river navigable to boats capable of hauling 55 bushels of coal at all stages.

Travel by that route, he said, was a perilous passage and more a sporting event than a transportation system.

A canal connecting Georgetown to Cumberland and beyond to the Ohio River was contemplated before the 19th century, he said, but it took the War of 1812 to prove that the future of the young United States lay inland.

Both Horse Drawn

One of the things often lost sight of, he said, is that the C & O Canal and its rival, the B & O Railroad, were both horse drawn during their early history.

Building of the canal, he said, was a major engineering feat, as most of the construction was with pick and shovel, wheel barrow or mule-drawn cart.

The 3,000 foot Paw Paw tunnel, he said, was hand drilled and blasted with black powder at a rate of 12 feet a week.

The canal never paid off, he said, and made no great contributions during the War Between the States.

It was built well, he added, and every effort to blast down aqueducts failed.

Floods, he said, played hob with canal boats but never caused major damage to the canal structures. He termed the stone work, some of it virtually as good as the day it was laid, "a monument to American ingenuity and technical skill."

Cites Plans

Some years ago, he said, it was proposed to use the park right of way for a C & O Canal Parkway, connecting Cumberland with the George Washington Parkway near Great Falls.

The Douglas hike, he said, focused attention on the canal and resulted in legislation to establish the historical park project.

He said Rep. John R. Foley has assured canal backers that the park bill will go to the floor of the House shortly.

Legislation, he said, is sufficiently broad to permit cooperation between the Park Service and communities along the way. He cited the Battle Mison Pool in Oldtown as an example of the uses which can be made of the waterway.

The North Branch is improving, he said, and the time is not too far distant when it will be a "clean stream."

Recreation is included, he said, in the park service's plans for the canal.

Mr. Dale revealed that the National Geographic Society has had writers and photographers on the canal for some time and plans in the near future to publish an article on the canal.

Pending legislation allowing the go-ahead on the project, the park service is devoting its efforts to halt prevent deterioration.

Garrett County was represented by D. W. Hershberger, Grantsville, community chairman of rural development, and Dr. Alva Shrock, director of Penn Alps industries.

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman of the C & O committee, presided.

City Will Study Offer On Land

A letter from Joseph F. Robinette, 428 Virginia Avenue, who wants to purchase city-owned lots at 620 and 622 North Mechanic Street, was referred yesterday to Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder and City Engineer E. R. Nuzum.

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved the application of Police Sgt. John H. Newhouse to be retained for another year.

He will be 60 on January 27.

Relates Canal History

Edwin M. Dale, center, superintendent of the C & O. Historical Park Project, chats with Robert C. Petersen, left manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman of the Tourist and Convention committee of the Chamber during a meeting held yesterday and attended by some 26 representatives of Allegany and Garrett County organizations.

Youths Face Court Hearing On Thursday

Two young men from Slabtown will be tried in Allegany County Circuit Court Thursday at 10 a. m. before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris on charges of breaking and entering and larceny of two business establishments in The Narrows last August.

Albert Leroy Bridges, 20, and Carl William Helmick, 17, were arrested earlier this month by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, T.C. Milton Hart, assistant investigator, and Trooper Joseph Stakem.

Criminal informations were filed in Court yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason after the two men waived their right to indictment by the grand jury and asked for an immediate trial.

On January 15 they were given a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate Paul W. Barnett who ordered the men held for action of the April grand jury. They were remanded to the County Jail in default of $500 bond set by Magistrate Barnett.

Bridges will be represented by Attorney John Sullivan, who was court-appointed, and Helmick indicated he will retain his own counsel.

The men will be tried on two separate cases: the breaking and entering of Diehl's Service Station, Narrows Park, on August 18, 1959 when money and merchandise totaling $114.70 was taken; and the entry of Kline's Restaurant the same day when merchandise valued at $28.68 was stolen.

The state's attorney's office said yesterday the Juvenile Court waived jurisdiction over 17-year-old Helmick.

Mt. Savage Farmer Receives Award

Allegany County placed second in Maryland in the annual Good-year nation-wide conservation award program for the period May 1, 1958 to April 30, 1959. Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service office here, said yesterday.

He also said that Earl H. Lepley of Mt. Savage was named outstanding conservation farmer of the county in the conservation award program.

During a recent meeting of Soil Supervisors in Baltimore a plaque was accepted on behalf of Allegany County by Floyd Buser, former chairman and present vice chairman of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

The award was based on accomplishments during the year including administration, conservation education and planning and organization and activities of the committee. Howard County placed first in the program.

Mr. Lepley said last night that he received a plaque for outstanding work in soil conservation. He has been operating a 52-acre dairy farm for about 12 years and was formerly a truck driver.

He is married and has three children. Mr. Lepley is a cooperator with the SCS office here and keeps up to date on the latest soil conservation practices.

The Allegany District Soil Supervisors will hold their regular monthly meeting on Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

The program for the coming year will be discussed and a report given by those who attended the meeting this month in Baltimore. Mr. Gordon will also give his monthly report on soil conservation practices.

W.Va. Council Urged To Study Uses Of Coal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's coal industry was blamed Monday for much of the state's unemployment problems in a Republican Senate resolution calling for the creation of a "Scientific Advisory Council" to explore more uses of coal.

The resolution introduced by Sens. Raymond Vassar, Weston and Dayton Stemple, Philippi, would ask Gov. Cecil H. Underwood to form an 11-member council to study and recommend a program on coal research, possibly at West Virginia University.

The resolution noted that coal was "once the life - blood of West Virginia's economy" but that it has been "faltering and falling back from one retrenchment to another."

As a result, the resolution said, the industry has "contributed in large measure to the unemployment conditions now prevailing in the state."

The resolution took note of the chemical industry's prosperity as a result of research and said the possibilities of producing gas from coal should be explored.

Glider Soaring Meet Sought For This Area

Would Be Held At Airport

There is a possibility that Cumberland and area residents may witness a glider soaring meet here this summer.

The Mid-Atlantic Soaring Association has asked local glider enthusiasts if they are interested in having the meet held in Cumberland this year.

The association wrote to William Holbrook, Robert Holbrook and Richard Alstadt, who are now in the process of rebuilding their Leister-Kaufman glider.

On a weekend this summer, from 15 to 20 gliders owned by residents of different sections of the area would be brought to the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford for their takeoff.

The meet would include long distance and altitude gliding. Further information is being sought from the association.

The Cumberland Flying Association is interested in the meet, according to a spokesman who said that any service club in Cumberland could sponsor the summer event.

Additional information could be obtained from the Holbrooks when they hear from the association. The event was discussed during a recent meeting of the Cumberland Flying Association.

George Nash, chairman of special activities of the local association, said plans are underway for an aerial rally in the early part of the Spring. This will be a competitive meeting of pilots with flying accuracy a highlight of the rally.

Mercury Rises In Warm Sun

Temperatures Hit 38 Degrees Here

Steadily warming temperatures brought forth a bright, sunny day yesterday and the mercury rose to a high of 38 degrees in Cumberland.

Elsewhere, overnight lows which dipped to six below zero at Oakland in Garrett County and Thomas, W. Va., climbed above freezing for the most part.

Garrett County again experienced a slight snowfall in the early morning, but the warming afternoon sunshine melted some of the white blanket now covering the area to a depth of about four inches.

R. E. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said the temperatures rose to a high of 30 degrees in the afternoon following the six below reading in the morning. Last night the mercury registered 28 and was slowly dropping.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer in Cumberland, reported a low of 12 degrees which rose steadily to a high of 38 here. At 6 p. m. the thermometers read 35 degrees and were slowly falling.

State Police in LaVale reported nine degrees yesterday morning, but the thermometer rose to a high of 35. In downtown Cumberland the unofficial temperatures ranged from a low of 18 to a high of 42.

Frostburg had a reading of six above in the morning and 36 in the afternoon.

State Police at Bedford said temperatures rose to 40 degrees and registered 36 degrees unofficially last night.

Forecast for today is considerable sunshine and warmer. High will probably be in the low 40s.

The Hampshire County grand jury which was to have met this month will be combined with the March grand jury and will meet March 1 in Romney, West Virginia authorities said last night.

Mayhew was arraigned following a flight in a tavern in which James Likens was critically wounded. Because of the serious condition of Mr. Likens, who was unable to appear before the grand jury this month and because of the small number of cases the jury meeting was postponed.

City Income High While Spending Lags

Tax Collections Top 92 Per Cent

The City of Cumberland went into the second half of the fiscal year January 1 with 81 1/2 of the total levy and 92 1/2 of the tax levy in as spending lagged eight points under par.

Details of the current financial picture were given in a report on the Condition of the Levy prepared monthly for city officials by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

During the first six months, the city took in $1,505,083.13 of the $1,849,510 levied in August to finance city services and to pay interest and principal on the city's debt. This leaves only $344,424.87 still to be received.

Collections on the $1,253,080 tax levy totaled $1,157,179.49. This represents 92 1/2 per cent of the tax levy and leaves only $95,900.51 still due.

Collections on sewage service charges, which go to maintain the sewage treatment plant and toward maintaining and building sanitary sewers, were running about $7,000 ahead of schedule.

During the half-year period, city departments spent $671,386.19 for operations. This is nearly 42 per cent of the $1,603,659 set aside to finance city services.

One reason is that major departments, such as police, fire and streets, are operating about on schedule or a little under.

Another is that funds set apart for construction have not been touched. Included are $68,700 for special street and sewer projects and $56,400 for the first phase of the five-year street construction and repair program.

A third factor is that only a negligible amount has been needed for snow removal so far this year.

Patuxent Inmate Will Get Hearing

Case Scheduled For February 26

Phillip L. Miller, 19, city, who was sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory July 23, 1958, for breaking and entering a local junkyard, will be given a hearing on February 26 in Allegany County Circuit Court to determine if he is a defective delinquent.

Yesterday a court order was filed here ordering that Miller be delivered by officials of the Patuxent Institution to the County Jail on February 24 and remain in the custody of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein until the time of the hearing.

The state's attorney's office said Miller has been determined a defective delinquent by officials at Patuxent and requested that a hearing date be set. Yesterday's court order was signed by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The order stressed that the defendant be available for examination on February 24 by Dr. Richard W. Trevasik Jr.

On July 23 Miller was sentenced by Judge Harris to a term not to exceed two years in the Maryland Reformatory on the recommendation that he be examined for transfer to the Patuxent Institution as a possible defective delinquent.

He was tried in connection with the breaking and entering of Brock's Scrap and Salvage Company, Offutt Street, on June 23, 1958 at which time $270 in currency, a .22 calibre pistol valued at $20 and a box of .22 calibre cartridges valued at $1 were stolen.
